New Low 1910 Records—Market Then Rebounds on Reports of Gold Imports MYSTERY IN THEFT

LIVELY FLUCTUATIONS IN STOCKS. WEAK EARLY, GAINS STRENGTH IN AFTERNOON.

sales the market developed another weak streak. It seems to have fewer friends at the low levels than on a higher basis. The catching of a numher of stop orders proved rather serious and the continued liquidation cause wonder at the source of the outcoming stock. It was reported today that the Harriman estate was sending great blocks to the market. The liquidation of long stock was accelerated by disgust the throwing of stock overboard. The bear contingent was very busy and do-ing everything possible to bring lower to press matters very strongly after the were followed quickly by additional re-

Western operators. The grain market did not show, in its action, any contion of the poor crop reports the effect that the import of the yellow boys would reach large figures. It was also evident that someone was laying stocks. The right-about-face movement was complete, extending to the entire list, not only to the regaining of the carly drop, but to an additional advance, making the prices higher than on Tuesday, with evidences of accumulative buying on a scale all through the room.

Weakness gave way to strength, liquidation to accumulation, and it began to look as if the weak opening in London had been rigged for effect here.

Between the various movements the range of fluctuations in the leaders was quite large, four points in Union Pacific, five in Reading, two in Steel, common, and two on the average else-

Accused of Fraud. The suit was brought by Patrick K. Kieran, president of the defunct Fidelity Furding Company, against the Carnegie Trust Company, and Kieran alleged that while Dickinson was president of the Carnegie Company, the company had fraudulently obtained from him the promisory note for $35,000. There were also reports that Mr. Dickinson had lost heavily in the stock market and that his financial resources had been steadily drained. It was said that his holdings in the Carnegle Trust Company had also depreciated to a great extent. A coroner's inquest was hed and on the testimony of physicians a vertical was reached that Dickinson died of pneumonia, caused by an irritating gas. The insurance companies then decided to fight the payment of the accident policies.
